

Tir Nan Og – Press:

When a mischievous leprachaun is smiling in your face, you feet suddenly start dancing and even non-smokers start shouting for “tobacco” then you are definitely on a concert of the Irish Folk Rock band Tir Nan Og.

With lots of fun and a great feeling for rhythm the four wannabe Irishmen and one woman from southern Germany present not only traditional folk songs but also many original compositions. Their style is a mixture of rocking beats, witty lyrics and typical Irish melodies that will completely blow your mind.

Dancing and singing along are strongly recommended.

The secret star of the band however is the leprechaun by the name of “Oe”, who charms the audience and is also featured on the cover of the band's new album “Jack of Folk”.

Tir Nan Og are:

drums, vocals, bodhran: Volker Katzki

base guitar: Joachim Fink

fiddle: Matthias Pracht

guitar, vocals: Robert Meyer

accordeon, percussion, flute, vocals: Carina Lehmeier

Band history:

The band has been around since 2001 and toured through central Europe. All together they performed almost 300 gigs in small pubs, large concert halls or open air festivals.

The band's basis is in southern Germany close to the city of Ingolstadt.

Website: <http://www.tirnan.org>

Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/tirnanogofficial>

Youtube: <https://www.youtube.com/tirnanogofficial>

Contact: webmaster@explicit-lyrics.com